Message

We are very pleased to hold our 7th Convocation in a row. On this occasion, I would like to congratulate our graduating students, their parents, as well as our academic and administrative staff.

I am very proud of the achievement of our graduates. I hope they will be able to make their mark in their professions. However, I will feel all the more proud of them if they can go beyond the mere confines of their professions and are able to shine in all spheres of society. This may take more than the formal education they have acquired and to that end I would expect them to keep on learning from every opportunity that life offers. Let me also point out to our young graduates that their relationships with us will continue beyond this ceremony. Indeed, it will take on newer dimension as they get ready for professional life. May the promise that they have shown be fulfilled completely in the days to come.

I do believe that graduating students of East West University will be proud of their Alma Mater which has been trying its best since its inception to provide quality education to its students.

I wish them success in their future endeavors.
