

Men's Experiences of Female Perpetrated Intimate Partner Violence in Bangladesh

Short Bio of Anisur Rahman Khan

Dr. Anisur Rahman Khan is an Associate Professor in the Department of Sociology at East West University, Bangladesh, and a Professor Extraordinarius at the Institute for Social and Health Sciences, University of South Africa, Cape Town. He was a Postdoctoral Fellow at the Research Unit on Men and Masculinities, Institute for Social and Health Sciences, University of South Africa. Dr. Khan holds a PhD in Development Administration from the National Institute of Development Administration (NIDA), Bangkok, Thailand; an MA in Women's Studies from the University of York, United Kingdom; and an MSS in Sociology from the University of Dhaka, Bangladesh. His broader research interests encompass social policy, sociology of suicide, men and masculinities, and violence against men. He is currently leading BPATC-funded research investigating the motives for joining the civil service through Max Weber's three-dimensional model of social stratification: class, status, and power. Dr. Khan has been recognized as the Best Researcher at the rank of Associate Professor in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (FLASS), East West University.

Short Bio of Dr. Rasel Hussain

Dr. Rasel Hussain is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Sociology and Assistant Proctor at East West University. He completed his Doctor of Philosophy (DPhil) from the Department of Sociology and Social Policy of Lingnan University, Hong Kong with the prestigious HKPFS Scholarship by RGC of Hong Kong. Earlier he worked as a Consultant of REACH, University of Oxford and Coventry University, the United Kingdom. Dr. Hussain has been awarded the prestigious "Young Researcher of the Year" at the International Educational Awards – LEAP (Leadership in Education, Advancement, and Progress) 2025, hosted by the London School of Digital Business. He recently completed a funded project with the National Institute of Local Government (NILG), Government of Bangladesh, and is currently engaged in a BPATC-funded research project. Very recently, he has been awarded as the best researcher in the rank of Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (FLASS) of East West University. His research interest and publications span a wide range of areas, including the urban economy, informal economy, information-based economy, urban marginality, environmental crises, poverty, gender studies, and gerontology.